

Using the same technology as for the bullnose features EDM offer press formed or rolled column casings in circular, square or elliptical aerofoil shapes.

The same full range of metals and finishes are available along with the adjustable secondary steel support work and jointing methods.

Joint details open or gasket joints with adjustable set-out support system.

